Du Bois (222) 1919, published some data on the children of Liege. In England Howard (399) 1919, discussed war bread and the growth of children. C. SOCIAL STATUS Whether the good development of children from the favored classes is due to environmental influences including diet and medical inspection or to superior heredity is a question that cannot be settled with the data at hand. The superiority in development is the common report of investigators. As early as 1829 Villerme (847 and 848) showed that good homes and good nutrition contribute materially to physical growth. Bowditch (110) 1879, showed that the favored classes with good nutrition are superior to general classes, especially in height. This view was also held by Roberts (663) 1878, by the Anthropometric Committee of England under the chairmanship of Galton (281) 1883, by the...
