Is wheat the only thing that you have learnt to grow in fifty years, Mr. Davis? We have just come through your land, and I noticed that a good deal of it was pasture, and we stopped for a moment to look at a herd of cows. Do you know nothing about dairying at all? Oh, indeed, said Mrs. Davis, we have been very proud of our dairy. Next to the wheat it has been the chief thing with us. When I was younger and could do more myself, I looked after it entirely, and it is still a model dairy for its size. There you are! said Armitage Brown in good-humoured triumph. I thought I had come to the right place to get advice upon details. Mr. Davis, I expect you know just as much about dairying as about wheat-growing, and I think when I ve told you a little more about the scheme I have worked out, you won t, after all, find it such a terrible thing to make one rather than the other your chief interest. I don t want you to give up wheat-growing altogether, you know. The old man gathered himself together. I hope you won t take amiss what I am going to say, sir. I mean no disrespect to you, but you are a man many years younger that I am. As I understand, you have been...
