Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Impending Crisis: Or, Our Present Position and Prospects as a Nation Considered Among the many nations which people the globe, none are at the present time exciting that world-wide interest as our own. All eyes are turned toward the American Republic, and the pending struggle of these United States for the supremacy of the government over treason and wrong. Our position is one of unparalleled interest to the whole race. If the principles at issue on the part of the North, go down in the contest, the hopes of unnumbered millions go down with them. If they triumph, as we hope and believe they will, our long cherished Union will occupy a more elevated plane, as it regards both national prestige and universal freedom. Our position as a nation, is a term which involves both our own past history, considered in itself, or in contrast with the history and condition of other nations. In the former sense, let us for the present contemplate the subject. What is our status as a nation, examined with our eyes fixed upon our past history? It is one of unexampled development of resources for national defense. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
